Central Reserve Police Force

Celebrates the 10th International Day of Yoga 2024 with Passion and Zeal

The Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) observed the 10th International Day of Yoga with great enthusiasm and commitment. Led by Shri Anish Dayal Singh IPS, DG CRPF along with senior officers and around 600 CoBRA commandos of the 206 CoBRA Battalion, an impressive yoga session was held in Jagdalpur, Chhattisgarh, a stronghold of Naxal activities.

Yoga for Self and Society

Focusing on the theme "Yoga for Self and Society," the CRPF aimed to disseminate the larger message of peace and well-being through the practice of yoga. DG CRPF emphasized the importance of yoga in reducing stress and enhancing the health of CRPF personnel who often perform challenging duties in difficult conditions.

Encouraging Yoga Practice

The Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) actively promotes the practice of yoga among its personnel and their families. The force recognizes the profound benefits of yoga in enhancing physical and mental health, reducing stress, and improving overall well-being. By encouraging its brave members to incorporate yoga into their daily lives, the CRPF aims to inculcate a spirit of wellbeing and enhanced quality of life.

Nationwide Yoga Celebrations

In addition to Jagdalpur, many other equally impressive yoga sessions were organized at SDG Camp, Old JNU Campus, Delhi, and various remote locations across India by CRPF. The force recognizes the immense benefits of yoga in achieving harmony and balance in life and is committed to integrating yoga at every level of the organization and within their families.

Cognition, Metacognition and Dognition

Humans and dogs are two of the most successful species in Earth's evolutionary history. This success has been driven by a deep, interspecies bond, fostered through communication, symbiotic living, and mutual support. Both literary and material evidence highlight the importance of dogs in human communities throughout the ages. Numerous memorials have been erected to honor the role dogs played in both war and peace, and some cultures even deified them, building temples in their honor. Anthropological evidence suggests that early human societies, composed of hunters and gatherers, relied on dogs for tasks such as quarrying and retrieving game, which made hunting expeditions more efficient. As human societies evolved into sedentary, agricultural communities, dogs took on new roles—acting as guards, shepherds, and scouts. They were essential in warning humans of potential dangers lurking in the environment. Dogs also played a significant part in human conflicts, often fighting alongside their masters. In trench warfare, especially when flat-trajectory weapons were ineffective, stealthy attacks by trained war dogs could create panic and force enemy troops into vulnerable positions. During the World Wars, dogs were even used in extreme tactics, such as carrying explosives for suicide missions. Anecdotal evidence consistently underscores the profound role of K9s (canines) in both professional and community life. The human-dog relationship offers insights into how organisms learn in nature, as well as how cooperation between species can evolve. Their capacity for communication, inferential learning, and reading human intentions has made dogs ubiquitous across the globe. Unlike our evolutionary relatives, the primates, understanding the intelligence of dogs sheds new light on cognitive processes, offering a unique perspective on animal intelligence. The growing body of literature on dogs' cognitive abilities has made them one of the most sought-after species for addressing modern security challenges. Their unique combination of intelligence, loyalty, and adaptability continues to make them invaluable to humans in various contexts, from companionship to law enforcement and beyond.

Deploying Concepts:

Cognition refers to how humans perceive and make sense of the world through sensory experiences. Metacognition, on the other hand, involves the ability to reflect on and analyze our thought processes—understanding why we think the way we do. This self-awareness underscores humans as concept-bearing beings capable of deep cognitive reflection. Dogs, domesticated for millennia, have evolved the remarkable ability to interpret human intentions. Through close interaction with humans, they've developed a capacity to read our behavior and communication, drawing inferences about our actions and goals. This unique skill not only aids in practical tasks but also helps deepen our understanding of human cognition. The ability of dogs to learn through inference and read human intentions can be referred to as dog cognition.

The arrival of modern humans around 43,000 years ago marked a turning point in our evolutionary success. Human hunting expeditions, aided by dogs, contributed to the extinction of large Ice Age animals. Our rise from a fragile, yet intelligent species to dominant Earth-dwellers owes much to our partnership with dogs. Recognizing this shared ecological history reminds us of our responsibility to treat the species that helped shape our success with respect. The success of early human hunting expeditions was heavily dependent on dogs. As companions, dogs led humans to prey, retrieved game, and served as invaluable partners during lean seasons. Their diverse cognitive abilities complemented and enhanced human intelligence, offering solutions to complex challenges. In primitive societies, dogs accompanied humans on hunts, defended families against predators, and acted as alarm systems by using their superior olfactory, auditory, and visual capabilities to alert of impending threats. In modern society, dogs have taken on even pressure mines and improvised explosive devices (IEDs) used against security forces. In civilian contexts, modern police K9 units have played crucial roles in solving crimes by tracking criminals through scent detection. The scope of a K9's responsibilities has grown significantly, with dogs working as sniffers, more roles than in previous centuries. In wars, dogs have served as messengers, attackers, trackers, and even suicide bombers, adapting to the needs of humans. Their extraordinary ability to detect trace amounts of chemicals in the air and on the ground has made them invaluable as vanguards in military and security operations. Well-trained K9 units have helped neutralize guards, explosive detectors, patrol partners, and in narcotics detection, among other specialized roles. The only limit to the use of K9s is our own imagination. To fully utilize their potential, it is essential that we continue to study and appreciate their intelligence. To open up new vistas in cognitive psychology, we must draw inferences and inputs that facilitate interspecies communication. Human behavior should be adjusted according to the communicative intent of other species. Psychologists have long studied dog behavior to gain insights into human cognition, as dogs exhibit various cognitive skills. Through domestication, dogs have learned to understand human intentions, often reading mental states and acting as motivators or companions in accordance with human emotions. For example, dogs can interpret gestures like pointing, and they frequently rely on human guidance in activities such as retrieving, finding food, or moving in the right direction. Dogs also show an impressive ability to understand human speech and respond accordingly. They can even discern between intentional and unintentional human actions, such as whether a person deliberately stepped on their tail or did so by accident. This behavior is aligned with theory of mind, which refers to the ability to attribute mental states to others. It is clear that dogs have developed their own way of appreciating human communicative intent, especially through their close, evolutionary relationship with humans. Early behaviorists like Watson and Skinner emphasized observable, measurable behavior, arguing that subjective mental states were irrelevant since they couldn't be directly measured. However, cognitive psychology gives equal importance to mental processes such as learning, memory, thought, and problem-solving. As cognitive science has progressed, the internal mental events that take place in the mind have become just as important, if not more so, than outward behavior. Cognitive science also explores inferential learning and problem-solving abilities, areas in which dogs demonstrate significant aptitude. Understanding dog cognition, or dognition, provides valuable insights into human intelligence. The Exposure Hypothesis suggests that dogs, through living with humans, have learned to interpret human gestures, gaze, and pointing. While behaviorists predict responses to be overt and predictable, the counterintuitive patterns in dog cognition suggest otherwise. For instance, a dog sensing an earthquake doesn't just run away to save itself; it often attempts to alert its human companions and lead them away from potential danger. Exploring dognition also helps humans develop cooperative behaviors in social settings. Although conflicts are common in the animal world, feral dogs rarely inflict mortal wounds on each other, showcasing their cooperative nature. The evolutionary success of dogs highlights a shift from Darwin's notion of "survival of the fittest" to a model of survival of the friendliest. This success can be attributed to dogs' ability to cooperate, communicate, and form bonds with humans. Without dogs, humanity's evolutionary journey might have been severely limited. Comparative social cognition addresses the challenges of social living, taking into account social communication, learning, and understanding. Understanding dogs enhances multiple aspects of human life, including communication, cooperation, social bonding, and attachment behavior. Social cognitive learning theorists emphasize the influence of both other people's behavior and personal expectations on learning. Observational learning, modeling, and other cognitive learning techniques contribute to personality formation. Albert Bandura's social cognitive theory further explains that behavior is shaped not only by external stimuli and response patterns but also by cognitive processes like anticipation, judgment, memory, and imitation of models. Unlike animals whose behavior is largely dictated by instincts, human social patterns and interrelationships are highly flexible and susceptible to change. Our memory systems, oral communication, and cognitive processes have allowed us to transcend biological limitations, giving rise to science, technology, literature, and more. Through bonding with humans, dogs, too, have overcome some of their biological determinants, making them a unique and distinct species.

Conclusion:

Dogs' deep understanding of human communication and their ability to infer human intentions remain highly relevant today and hold the potential to unlock solutions to many mysteries. These insights not only strengthen the bond between humans and dogs but also offer valuable tools for addressing modern challenges, particularly in law enforcement and beyond. Dogs' cognitive faculties show remarkable convergence with human abilities, making them indispensable in areas such as solving crimes, detecting cancer, identifying narcotics, locating bombs, protecting endangered species, and even serving as early warning systems for impending natural disasters. As we continue to explore and harness these abilities, dogs will undoubtedly play a crucial role in solving many of the problems that humans have yet to overcome.

लाल आतंक से खाकी की यात्रा- बस्तरिया प्रशिक्षुओं के साथ अनुभव वृत्तान्त

प्रशांत कुमार राय

सहायक कमांडेंट, आर.टी.सी. लातूर

वर्ष 2009 में सिविल सर्विसेज़ की तैयारी के दौरान भारत के सबसे बड़े जिलों में से एक के रूप में "बस्तर" से परिचय हुआ। तब यह नहीं पता था कि बहुत ही कम समय में यह बस्तर भारत में कुख्यात रक्तरंजित नक्सली हिंसा के कारण सुर्खियों में आएगा। वर्ष 2008 से रक्तरंजित नक्सली हिंसा की तीव्रता में अत्याधिक वृद्धि हुई। इसी बस्तर के 388 युवाओं ने 06 मार्च 2024 को शपथ लेकर केन्द्रीय रिजर्व पुलिस बल के माध्यम से देश सेवा की सौगंध खाई है। लाल आतंक के भय से लड़कर जो हौसला इन युवाओं ने दिखाया है, उसके लिए निम्नलिखित पक्तियाँ समर्पित हैं:-

"साहसी को बल दिया है, मृत्यु ने
मारा नहीं है।

राह ही हारी सदा, राही कभी हारा
नहीं है।"

बस्तर को मैंने न केवल पढ़ा है,

बल्कि बस्तर को मैंने जिया है। मेरे सेवाकाल के 06 वर्ष बस्तर में बीते हैं। फरवरी 2013 में मेरी प्रथम नियुक्ति 85 बटा0 बीजापुर में हुई। मीडिया व प्रोपेगेंडा के कारण वहाँ पहुँचने के पूर्व यह महसूस होता था कि वहाँ का हर व्यक्ति नक्सलवाद से जुड़ा होगा, किंतु वहाँ पहुँचने के बाद व लोगों से जुड़कर यह महसूस हुआ कि इन भोले-भाले ईमानदार आदिवासियों को नक्सलियों ने विकास की मूलधारा से काट रखा है। समस्याएँ इतनी कि संघर्ष ही इनके जीवन की कहानी बन चुका था। रोटी, कपड़ा व मकान की मूलभूत जरूरत की प्राप्ति एक प्रमुख चुनौती थी। स्कूल, अस्पताल व रोजगार के लिए घर छोड़कर सैकड़ों कि.मी. पैदल जाना पड़ता था। अपनी तैनाती के साथ केन्द्रीय रिजर्व पुलिस बल यहाँ के लोगों की मूल समस्याओं को समझ गया व पुलिस कार्रवाई के साथ-साथ आम लोगों के दिल जीतने व जीवन की गुणवत्ता

को बेहतर बनाने के लिए विविध उपाय करने लगा। एक तरफ के.रि.पु.बल के जवान शिक्षक के रूप में बच्चों को पढ़ाने लगे, वहीं बल के चिकित्सकों ने हेल्थ कैंप लगाकर जरूरतमंदों की सेवा की। इसी क्रम में विकास की खाई को पाटने के लिए केन्द्रीय रिजर्व पुलिस बल ने बस्तर के युवाओं को बल में भर्ती करने का निर्णय लिया।

एक प्रशिक्षक के रूप में इन बस्तरिया युवाओं को प्रशिक्षण देना मेरे लिए गर्व की बात है। इनके साहस, समर्पण, प्रतिबद्धता, ईमानदारी, कर्तव्यनिष्ठा, त्याग की भावना, प्रकृति से संवेदना, नियमितता तथा कठिन परिश्रम से परिपूर्ण व्यक्तित्व को पूरे प्रशिक्षण स्टाफ द्वारा सराहा गया। ये जिस अभाव से आए हैं, उस अभाव को पीछे छोड़ते हुए इन्होंने 44 सप्ताह के बुनियादी प्रशिक्षण की सभी विधाओं को सफलतापूर्वक उत्तीर्ण किया। इन्होंने शारीरिक परिक्षण में उच्च प्रतिमान स्थापित किया। जबकि बस्तर की शिक्षा व्यवस्था को नक्सलियों ने ध्वस्त कर रखा है, फिर भी अपनी कड़ी मेहनत से इन्होंने लिखित परीक्षा में उत्कृष्ट अंक प्राप्त किए। इन्होंने अपनी पासिंग आउट परेड में महाराष्ट्र के पारंपारिक खेल "मलखम्भ" का प्रदर्शन किया, जो इनके समावेशी व समन्वययुक्त व्यक्तित्व का प्रतिबिम्ब है।

बल का सदस्य बन कर देश सेवा में अपना योगदान देने के संकल्प के आगे इन साहसी आरक्षियों ने नक्सली आतंक

के भय की परवाह नहीं की तथा प्रशिक्षण पूरा कर देश सेवा की प्रतिज्ञा ली। मैं इन साहसी युवाओं के जीवन व्यक्तित्व को सलाम करता हूँ जो लाल आतंक से भयभीत नहीं हुआ और खाकी धारण करने की यात्रा को सफलतापूर्वक पूर्ण किया।

ये युवा विकास में पिछड़े अपने गांवों के युवाओं के लिए रोल मॉडल बनेंगे तथा इन क्षेत्रों के नागरिकों को नक्सलियों के दुष्प्रचार से मुक्त कर देश की मुख्यधारा में शामिल करने की दिशा में अपना बहुमूल्य योगदान देंगे। इन साहसी युवाओं के संदर्भ में निम्न पंक्तियां पूर्णतः प्रासंगिक हैं:—

"लहरों से डरकर नौका पार नहीं होती, कोशिश करने वालों की कभी हार नहीं होती।"
जय हिन्द।
