PARADIGM SHIFT IN TRAINING

MANORANJAN KUMAR

SECOND IN COMMAND , 3 BN CRPF

Training is a process of unlearning, learning and relearning. Training is a procedure which helps in achieving a desired goal. What are desired goals? An organisation or institution to run, needs to have skilled or trained staff. It is possible only when the staff are shaped and trained according to the need of the organisation.

Training need is a very important aspect which when correctly figured out can push the organisation to achieve its aim. Training need depends upon the goal or the target. An organisation has to go through different phases and every time a new goal is set. Depending upon it a new model is required to inch towards set target.

When the Naxal terror was out of control in Andhra Pradesh in late Eighties of twentieth century, the state urgently required to counter the menace. The state required to create a special force to take on Naxals in the state. They created new models of training as per the need to weed out Naxals from the state. In 1989 Greyhounds was raised to fight the Naxals in the state. The Greyhounds were trained with a special design as per the need of the time. They were very unconventional in their operations. In small teams they started operating and brought the desired results.

Post 2003 attack on Shri Chandra Babu Naidu, then CM Andhra Pradesh at Alipiri gate, a slew of measures has been taken against Naxals in the state. The state in addition to the Greyhounds established District reserve guards (DRG), which were as good as the former in terms of training and execution on the ground. They were trained as per the terrain and given special training of warfare in jungle. A paradigm shift was brought in police training and the younger lots were picked up to train as per the need.

With precise focus on required training need the Greyhounds and the DRG were successful in eliminating Naxal menace in the state. Maharashtra, Jharkhand, Odisha and Bihar raised C-60, Jaguar, Special operations group and State Armed Police Force respectively to fight the red ultra. This could only be possible due to paradigm shift in training.

Naxals in late eighties started creating its base in South Chhattisgarh across the Godavari and it became more intense after the Andhra Pradesh started putting pressure on Naxals through persistent operations.

Year 2010 witnessed martyrdom of CRPF troopers in big number in South Chhattisgarh. In two back-to-back incidents at Tadmela in Sukma then Dantewada district and Jhadha Ghati, 3 km from Dhudai in Narayanpur district CRPF lost 76 and 26 Bravehearts respectively. This was a watershed for CRPF to wake and fight Naxal menace with full strength. CRPF witnessed the change of the leadership and the ascent of Shri K Vijay Kumar as DG CRPF started a new era of operations and training.

Shri K Vijay Kumar who himself was an acknowledged trainer, knew that CRPF needed paradigm change in its training if it has to fight Naxals. During his time Training nodes were created in different sectors along with establishment of Anti Naxal Training Schools. Moreover, the training institutes, Academies and Counter insurgency and anti-terrorist colleges brought major changes in its syllabus which was the need of the hour to fight Naxals. On job training or operational training was laid emphasis on, in the units. Pre-induction training schools in different sectors included the training content as per the requirement of the area.

Before the arrival of Shri K Vijay Kumar under the supervision of Shri K Durga Prasad, the mentor of Greyhounds, Commando battalion for resolute action (CoBRA) was conceptualised and created in CRPF. CoBRA was raised as a jungle warrior force and its mandate was to fight guerrilla like guerrilla in jungle. Living off the land was the prime need to fight Maoists in their den. Accordingly, the training module of the CoBRA was crafted and those who had been outstanding in physical training and firing, were imparted arduous training of jungle warfare and survival.

Paradigm shift in training over the next five to six years started bringing change. CRPF started inching towards core area and started claiming the area which was under the influence of Naxals. Operational success, establishment of camps in core area, road construction up to Burkapal and laying of electric lines in the area was possible due to persistent and intensive ops. Training has played a crucial role in it.

Establishment of camps in Palodi, Minpa, Elmagunda, Karigundem, Elarmadgu, Silger and Kolaiguda of late has become successful largely due to intensive operations in the area. Such operations were only possible due to the need-based quality training in basic training centres, advance training centres and Sector operational training schools.

Operation in Karregutta hills (KGH) reflects the toughness of the jawans and their ground commanders who for very long duration had been involved in intensive operations. The success in KGH became possible because of able leadership but the tenacity of the ground troops played decisive role. The tenacity of troopers was the result of the rigorous training imparted to them.

When the Kashmir was witnessing the peak of militancy the government of India decided to establish a force for the Kashmir to counter it. In 1990 Rastriya Rifles was established with the aim to establish the peace in the state. The home and defence ministry understood the training need to prepare the troops to fight the terrorists.

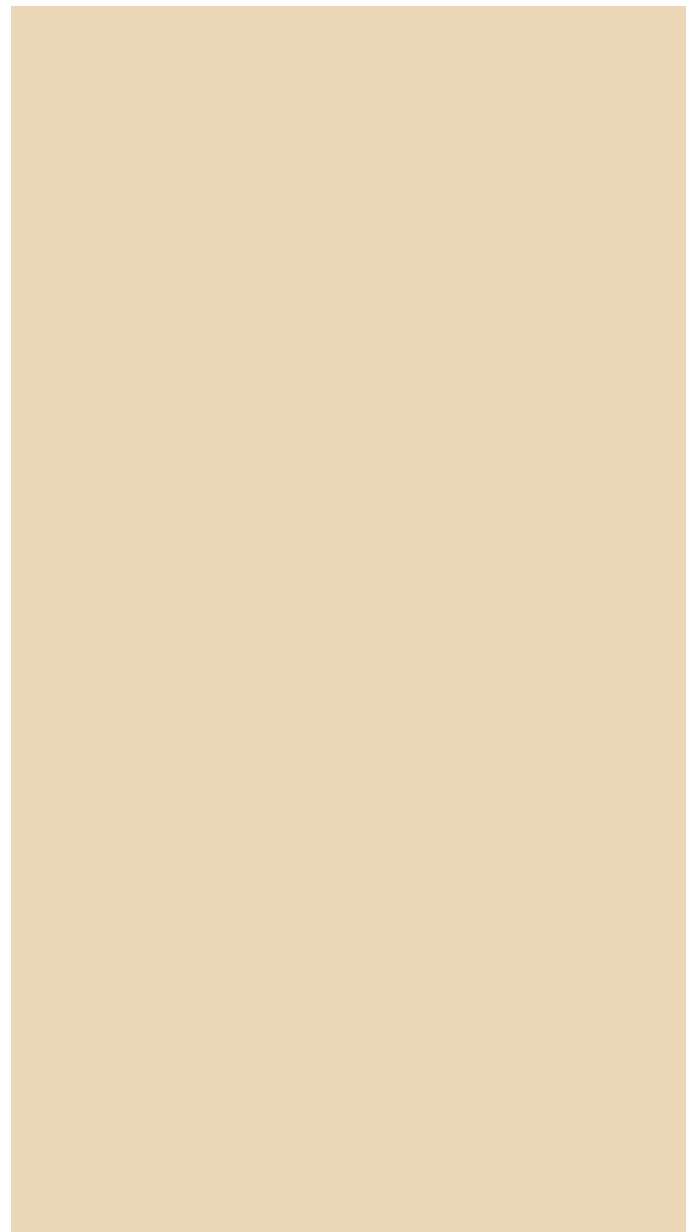

The trends of militancy were understood and special operational training was devised. In valley Corps battle schools were established to train the Army and as per the requirement of the ground the training syllabus was prepared. With the change in training methods, Rastriya Rifles has been successful in controlling militancy in Kashmir.

CRPF too has an arrangement of pre induction training in Valley and it is being imparted according to the need there. The sectors keep close eyes on it. The change of modus operandi of militants gives insights to Sectors to amend the training. CRPF's Valley QAT has been extremely successful in neutralising hard core ultras. Law and order elements in the unit during stone pelting days in Valley have successfully quelled the stone pelters. Training of non-lethal means to control the protesters were made part of the training module of the units.

Curb on Naxalites and control on militancy through the changes in training establish the fact that paradigm shift in training helps in achieving the cutting edge to operations. The requirement is to identify and analyse the training need and prepare a module accordingly. After the preparation of the training module the targeted group of personnel must be trained holistically. The shift in training will certainly bring the desired change and be helpful in achieving the aimed goals.

MY NATIONAL FLAG

M.WAHEEDA, AC (MIN)

RAF-II, NAVI MUMBAI

Posting in a duty Battalion of CRPF is most often a grueling experience especially as it is the grass root level establishment of the Force which provides all the manpower and data required for efficient functioning of the organization at the macro level. For those in the Ministerial Cadre, like me, dealing with paper work whole day takes its toll, especially when you face staff crunch and have to manage a lot more than your allocated work. But the feeling that this back end support that I give from the office front, is essential for the upkeep of morale and motivation level of a jawan battling on the field performing law and order duties, fighting insurgents, naxals, cross-border terrorism in inclement weather conditions, makes me forget my own aches and pains due to the long hours at work.

It was a late evening, and the fatigue of an exhausting day at work weighed heavily on me as I returned home in the office bus from 77 Bn, CRPF, Poonamallee, Chennai. My colleagues in the bus were chatting away about one or the other topic. But my mind was too tired to either join in their conversation or pay attention to what they were speaking. I sat silently in my seat, watching the scenario outside the window of the bus. The bus slowly entered the Group Centre CRPF Avadi, and as it moved forward, my eyes were drawn to the flag post ahead.

A cool evening breeze was blowing, and our Tri coloured National Flag standing tall was fluttering so gracefully in the breeze. The colors of the flag looked vibrant against the illuminated night lights. Something about the sight of this vibrant and majestic flag soaring high was magical. At that instant, my fatigued body and mind, forgot all it's tiredness. The fluttering flag in front of me appeared to be alive, moving in a rhythm to a music of the winds, which my heart could hear. The flag - a symbol of pride, by it's mere silent presence brought back new energy and enthusiasm in me.

As the bus moved further into the campus, my attention now moved to the pictures lining both sides of the road—photos of the brave martyrs of this great Force. I noticed the gentle glow on their faces in the night lights. I could visualize a poignant story behind every photo that stood lining the road. As the bus moved slowly inside the campus, my gaze moved from one face to the other. Some of them looked so young, their eyes so full of hope and dreams galore, not a life to be cut short so unexpectedly.

My fertile imaginative mind now started thinking about the lives of these brave hearts before their ultimate sacrifice for the nation. They must have had dreams of a future filled with laughter and love. Perhaps they had planned vacations with their families or envisioned watching their children grow up. They must have planned to build a good house for their family members, take care of their ailing parents, arrange marriage of a younger sister, support higher education of a younger sibling, fulfill all their responsibilities towards their families and lead a peaceful retired life thereafter.

Sigh! all those dreams and aspirations were abruptly gone when duty beckoned. A lump formed in my throat just thinking of all that they have sacrificed. I felt my eyes moisten as I thought about the families they left behind—the parents, spouses, siblings and children who had to carry on their lives forever, changed, by an unimaginable void.

Was there a greater act of bravery, a bigger loss than laying down your life for the country ? Automatically, my thoughts next wandered to, the reasons for their sacrifice - Cross-border terrorism, militancy, naxalism, fidayeen attacks- So much senseless violence, cruelty, and insanity! How could human beings inflict such horrors on one another?

The bus came to a halt, breaking my reverie. It was time to disembark and head home. Yet my mind remained entangled in the strings of the emotions still seethingly fresh.

I could visualize the mortal remains of the martyrs', draped in the National Flag as their final honor—a symbol of their valor and their supreme sacrifice for the nation they served. As I walked slowly towards my home, the thought of the flag still lingered in my mind. Though there was an untold story behind every life lost, yet, there was a solace that their sacrifice was not in vain.

To be wrapped in the National Flag after your death—to be honored by the nation in such a way—was a death not of despair, but of glory in its real essence.

It re-iterated the realization that this Tri-colour was more than a symbol of a nation.

The Flag stood as a testament to the spirit of those brave hearts who lived and died for its ideals.

It flutters not just in the wind, but in the hearts of all those who cherish and revere it.

At the end of the day, I felt proud of my country, my flag, and was deeply grateful to the heroes whose sacrifices ensured that “My National Flag” continued to flutter high in the skies.

आओ मिलकर पेड़ लगाएं

सउनि/मंत्रा रविकान्त यादव

रेंज बीजापुर

आओ मिलकर पेड़ लगाएं, छाया फल और फूल के।
वर्षा का जल संचित कर लें, क्यों बैठे हैं भूल के।।

याद करो वो बीता जमाना, जब कुएं पोखरे ताल थे।
खेत-खेत पर पेड़ लगे थे, पशु पक्षी खुशहाल थे।
सुबह चलाकर हल किसान, अपने खेतों को बोते थे।
दोपहर के समय सभी, पेड़ों के नीचे सोते थे।
मिलकर के सब जल ले जाते, तालाबों तक गूल से।
वर्षा का जल संचित कर लें, क्यों बैठे हैं भूल के।।

माँ के नाम से पेड़ लगाया, अब पिता की बारी है।
उनको भी सम्मान मिले, जिनसे पहचान हमारी है।
पेड़ लगा कर के फिर से, प्रकृति को पुनः बचाना है।
वर्षा का जल संचित कर, जीवन खुशहाल बनाना है।
बरगद, जामुन आम लगाओ, कुछ पीपल नीम बबूल के।
वर्षा का जल संचित कर लें, क्यों बैठे हैं भूल के।।

हम सब को मिलकर के, अब ये अभियान चलाना है।
हर शहर गांव और खेत-खेत में, एक-एक पेड़ लगाना है।
भारत सरकार के सपनों को, हम सब साकार बनाएंगे।
इस बार पिता के नाम से भी, एक पेड़ सभी लगाएंगे।
तब भारत माता गद-गद होगी, उन्नति और उसूल से।
वर्षा का जल संचित कर लें, क्यों बैठे हैं भूल के।।

आओ मिलकर पेड़ लगाएं, छाया फल और फूल के।
वर्षा का जल संचित कर लें, क्यों बैठे हैं भूल के।।

मैं नारी हूँ भारत की, शक्ति मेरी पहचान है।
मैंने वर्दी पहनी है, जो मेरा अभिमान है।
मैं माँ भी हूँ, बेटी भी हूँ,
पत्नी भी मेरा रूप है।
मैं सीता भी हूँ, सावित्री भी हूँ।
काली-सा उग्र स्वरूप है।
मैं लक्ष्मी हूँ घर-आँगन की,
मैं त्याग का इक प्रतिरूप हूँ।
अर्धांगिनी बन जब जाती हूँ,
कामिनी का अकल्परूप हूँ।
जिस रूप में मुझको देखोगे, वह रूप मेरी पहचान है।
मैंने वर्दी पहनी है, जो मेरा अभिमान है।
संघर्षों से जो न घबराऊँ,
मैं वह जज्बा रखती हूँ।
ताकत है मेरी बाजू में,
फौलाद-सा जिगरा रखती हूँ।
अंधेरों से लड़ना आता,
आँधी में लौ-सी जलती हूँ।
हर साँस तिरंगे पर वारी,
मेरी हर धड़कन कहती है।
"श्रुति" वीरांगनाओं में हो गिनती, ये मेरा अरमान है।
मैंने वर्दी पहनी है, जो मेरा अभिमान है।
मैं नारी हूँ भारत की, शक्ति मेरी पहचान है।
मैंने वर्दी पहनी है, जो मेरा अभिमान है।
